

UPL wins Trishul Award for excellence in agrochemical exports

At an Export Award Function on 8th October, 2007 in Mumbai, UPL bagged the “Trishul Award” in recognition for its excellent performance in exports of chemicals (agrochemicals) by Basic Chemicals, Pharmaceuticals and Cosmetics Export Promotion Council (CHEMEXCIL), an apex body.

The Trishul Award is the highest export award from CHEMEXCIL for the best performer in the large scale sector and also for developing new markets and new products for which UPL has been a front runner in India. Last but not the least, the exports of agrochemicals for UPL have been entirely manufactured by itself without any contribution coming from trading.

Over the years, CHEMEXCIL has played a pioneering and catalytic role in promoting the exports of Dyes, Dye Intermediates, Chemicals, Cosmetics & Toiletries, Agrochemicals, Agarbattis and Essential Oils. This Award Function was organized to felicitate a chosen few of the leading exporters of these commodities, where Shri Kamal Nath the Union Minister of Commerce and Industry felicitated Mr. R. Rajasekhar (Vice President, Commercial - UPL) with the coveted Trishul Award.
